

Curriculum Vitae: Prof. Dr. (TU NN) Norbert Pohlmann

Since 2003 Norbert Pohlmann has been a Professor in the Computer Science Department for distributed systems and information security and director of the Institute for Internet Security - if(is) at the Westphalia University of Applied Sciences Gelsenkirchen, Germany. Norbert Pohlmann studied Electrical Engineering, specialized in Computer Science in Aachen, and has written his doctoral thesis on "Possibilities and Limitations of Firewall Systems"

From 1988 to 1999, he was founder and Managing Director at the start-up company KryptoKom. After the merger with Utimaco Safeware AG he was a member of the Utimaco Safeware AG management board from 1999 to 2003.

Since April 1997 Pohlmann has been chairman of the board of the IT security association TeleTrusT and since Mai 2015 a member of the board of the Internet industry association eco.

In 1997, Norbert Pohlmann won the city of Aachen's Prize for Innovation and Technology for scientific and entrepreneurial achievements.

Additionally he is a member of the academic council of the Association for Data Protection and Data Security: GDD and in the steering board of the Task Force IT Security from the German Federal Ministry of Economics and Technology.

For five years, he was a member of the Permanent Stakeholders' Group of the ENISA (European Network and Information Security Agency).

In 2011, he was Professor of the year in the category Computer and Engineering Sciences. In the summer term 2013, Norbert Pohlmann was Visiting Professor at Stanford University, Department of Computer Science.

Numerous publications, lectures and seminars on the subject of information security testify his expertise and commitment to this subject.

Institute for Internet Security – if(is)

Westphalia University of Applied Sciences Gelsenkirchen

Neidenburger Str. 43

D-45877 Gelsenkirchen, Germany

Tel.: +49 / 209 / 9596 515

Mobile: +49 / 173 / 3021 838

E-Mail: pohlmann@internet-sicherheit.de

URL: www.internet-sicherheit.de

<https://www.norbert-pohlmann.com>